Brushes:

- Bring a variety of your favorites large and small, synthetic and natural (stiff)

Acrylic Colors

I recommend Liquitex, Liquitex Basics and Golden Acrylics and Daniel Smith or WN Cotman watercolors.

- titanium white (professional grade even if all other paints are student grade)
- burnt umber
- yellow ochre (or yellow oxide)
- burnt sienna
- cadmium red medium or naphthol crimson
- ultramarine blue
- phthalocyanine (thalo or phthalo) blue
- cadmium yellow medium or hansa yellow medium

Other Supplies

- Paper towels
- Palette knife for mixing
- I recommend a 9" x 12" or 11" x 14" surface :Stretched canvas canvas board or canvas pad or watercolor paper, loose, stretched or a block. Cold press preferred.
- Assorted clear reference images of your pet(s). A few things to consider:

Good Lighting – is your picture light enough to see your pet?

True eye color – does the picture show the true eye color of your pet?

True fur color – does the picture show the true fur color of your pet?

Visible fur direction – can you see the fur in detail?

A good distance from the camera – is your pet too far away and hard to see?
Zoom in and cut out extraneous background elements.

- If you wish to grid or transfer, I suggest having the image printed on regular paper (not photo paper).
- How to use transfer paper: <https://www.art-is-fun.com/transfer-paper#:~:text=Get%20a%20paper%20photocopy%20or,transfer%20paper%20to%20the%20canvas.>
- How to use a grid: <https://design.tutsplus.com/tutorials/how-to-use-a-grid-to-enlarge-an-image-while-drawing--cms-20593>
- Palette appropriate for your medium. Paper plates work well too!

Optional

- Acrylic Matte Medium (fluid not gel, and get a 4 oz. bottle-you don't need a lot)

- Mister or spray bottle for water (keeps paint moist on the palette)
- Drawing implement for sketching design on canvas and a sketchbook
