What you need – to know about supplies:

- Paper
 - Sketch paper to develop your design
 - 8" x 10" or 9" x 12"
 - Smooth watercolor paper, printmaking paper, construction paper, card stock, drawing paper.
 - The paper weight should not exceed 140 pounds.
 - The Speedball starter kits don't always come with paper, so check.
- Speedball cutters
 - Buy Speedball
- Linoleum block
 - Mounted on wood or unmounted
 - Mounted is easier to use.
 - Unmounted means you can use both sides.
 - Size: 4" x 6" or 5" x 7"
 - The kind that looks like a pink eraser is easiest to use, but it is hard to tell where you have carved because the surface and carved out area are the same color.
 - The best blocks have a different color on the surface than the carved area.
- Brayer – roller
- Old wooden spoon or baren
- Ink
 - Some acrylic paints like Golden Open should work for printmaking.
 - One color is sufficient to start.
 - Water soluble ink in a tube or jar
- Flat surface for rolling out the ink
 - Plastic cutting board, Styrofoam tray if it's smooth
 - Aluminum foil or palette paper tapes to cardboard
- Band-aids in case you cut yourself
- Pencil, sketch paper and eraser
- Ruler
- Sharpie pen in a color other than black
- Ballpoint pen
- Paper towels
- Any source material – landscape photos, decorations, special objects you want to draw. Even better would be to do a sketch.
- Old towel – to hold the linoleum block so it doesn't slip
- Old toothbrush – to clean off the linoleum block after printing
- Masking tape or painter's tape
- Optional – X-acto knife, small paintbrush and acrylic paint if you want to add color highlights
- Plastic bag and twist tie or Ziploc bag that holds flat surface palette to keep ink moist when re-printing
